Louisiana Politicians Face Tax Probe

Governor Candidate Involved

Long's Backer Favors Action

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A move for a congressional investigation of income tax returns of some leading Louisiana politicians today was blocked until at least early next week.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House rules committee today ordered an investigation of income tax returns of some leading Louisiana politicians.

The committee's action is subject to House approval, probably later today. It came after a spirited session during which charges of "stool pigeon" and "informer" flew hot and fast.

The investigation will be made by a special seven-man committee.

It was requested by Reps. Dirksen (R-Ill) and Domengeaux (D-La). Domengeaux has charged Earl K. Long, a candidate for governor in next Tuesday's Democratic run-off primary, was involved in an income tax fraud case.

Long is a brother of the late Huey P. Long, former Louisiana governor and senator.

Domengeaux is supporting Sam Jones in next week's election.

Rep. Hebert (D-La), a backer of Long, supported the proposal for an investigation and suggested that it cover also the tax returns of Jones and other Louisiana politicians.

Chairman Allen (R-Ill) said the rules committee's action was not unanimous.

Domengeaux told reporters the investigation may be started before the end of the day if the House upholds the committee's recommendation. The investigation resolution was slated for House consideration this afternoon.

It was Hebert who told the rules committee that the original information on which Domengeaux based his charges against Long was furnished by a "stool pigeon" and "an informer" in the internal revenue bureau.

Because income tax returns are secret, Hebert said, only by a congressional resolution can they be investigated and made public.

Insisting Long has been guilty of no wrong-doing, Hebert claimed that only by such an investigation can Domengeaux's charges be disproved.

2 Nazi Army Men Guilty

NUERNBERG —(U.P.)— Marshal Wilhelm List and Col. Gen. Lothar Rendulic, two of the best known Nazi commanders in the occupied Balkans, were convicted of war criminality today for mass reprisals against civilian hostages.

An American war crimes tribunal returned verdicts against a group of former German army leaders charged with slaying thousands of civilians in their efforts to put down resistance against the invaders.

List was convicted of criminal responsibility for the shooting of civilians in reprisal for the killing of German soldiers on occupation duty in the Balkans. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

List formerly was the overall Nazi commander in the Balkans. Convicted along with him was the armed forces commander of the same area, Lt. Gen. Walter Kuntze.

Rendulic, commander of the Second Panzer army in Yugoslavia, was convicted of ordering the shooting of civilian hostages, of mistreatment and shooting of prisoners of war, and of the deportation of male civilians to Germany for slave labor.

Rail Wage Facts Aired

Board Hears Company Witness

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— A railroad official testified before a presidential fact-finding board today that members of three operating unions seeking higher wages already are the highest paid employes in the railroad industry.

The testimony was prepared to be given by L. W. Horning, New York, vice-president of the New York Central system. He was the first railroad witness summoned to testify before the board, which was named to avert a strike originally called for Feb. 1 by the unions representing some 125,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen.

The unions are asking a 30-per cent wage increase. They also are seeking 25 rule changes. Other operating unions representing conductors and trainmen, and the non-operating unions, recently accepted a 15½-cent hourly pay hike.

Engineers, firemen and switchmen occupy the "top position" in the industry, Horning said. He added "while this group constitutes only 9.38 per cent of all railroad employes, they receive 12.8 per cent of the total pay. They receive 36.4 per cent more than they would if all employes were paid equally.

Union representatives already have testified before the board. The unions involved are Brotherhood of Locomotie Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Fire Destroys Large House

GALION—An 11-room, partially-modernized farm home five miles southeast of Galion burned to the ground early today. Loss was estimated at more than $10,000.

The house, built in 1882, was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Garner. The house and contents were a complete loss. Garner discovered the fire at 7:20 a. m. Strong winds fanned the blaze.

The Galion Fire department fought the fire, which for a time threatened a nearby barn and garage. The property was owned by Mrs. Charles Smith of near Galion.

Insurance Cost Rise Threatens

Water Shortage Here Could Up Fire Rates

Continuation of the present critical shortage of water in Mansfield holds the possibility of bringing about an increase in fire insurance rates on residential, industrial and mercantile property.

Roy E. Julian, Columbus, manager of the Ohio Inspection Bureau, a fire insurance rating agency, reported that "some improvement is needed in the water supply if the present classification (basis for rates) is to be maintained."

Whether the work now underway toward increasing the water supply through the various phases of the Clear Fork project will preclude a rate increase was not discussed by Julian.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters rates cities for insurance purposes on a system that takes into account water supply, fire department size and equipment, alarm system, police department, building codes, fire prevention laws and the manner in which such laws are enforced.

HAS NO. 6 RATING

By its system, the underwriters' board rates cities in classes from 1 to 10, with best-protected cities given No. 1 classification and communities with no fire protection being in class 10. Mansfield's class is 6.

Insurance men said that if Mansfield's rating should be reduced because of the water shortage, the increase in fire insurance rates probably would cost the average home owner $1.50 to $2.50 more each year.

Completion of the Clear Fork project will not reduce residential insurance rates below their present level, because cities in classes 1 to 6 all pay the same residential rates. Whether the Clear Fork project will be a big enough factor in the general fire security set-up here to reduce business and industrial insurance costs has not been determined.

Boulevards On Its Own

The village of South Boulevards was told last night that it must assume responsibility for its own water system, which heretofore has been maintained and serviced by the Mansfield water department.

At a meeting held at the Municipal building and attended by South Boulevards officials, B. V. BeVier, city sanitary engineer, and Service-Safety Director E. L. Morgan explained that the city will deliver the water at commercial rates and that South Boulevards can establish its own rate schedule.

South Boulevards will take over the system as soon as the city obtains delivery on two master meters to be installed at the two mains that feed the village.

Mansfield will deliver the water to the village gate, but the village will bear leakage and repair costs, bill, and collect from its customers, and keep the system in repair.

BeVier told The News-Journal that some water lines in South Boulevards were installed to private contractors and do not meet city specifications.

"The city has had to keep that system in repair, and it has caused us many headaches and a lot of money," BeVier said

Tonney Makes Report

Politics Hampers Health Work, Claim

Charges by Dr. Fred O. Tonney, who will leave the Mansfield-Richland county health commissioner's post March 1, that politics hampered the activities of the health department are contained in Dr. Tonney's annual health report which was released today.

His report specifically mentions "political repercussions" which followed his closing of Margaret's Inn on Park avenue east and improvements ordered at the Chinese restaurant in the Southern hotel last year.

Reference to these cases was made frequently in hearings for Dr. Tonney following his ouster Dec. 8 by the Mansfield board of health. Dr. Tonney, however, withheld comment on them except to indicate they figured in charges made against him by health board members.

Dr. Tonney was restored to his city health commissioner's post and cleared of charges after the Richland County CIO council entered the case, announcing it would investigate the ouster and make its findings public. Dr. Tonney resigned after he was reinstated.

DEPARTMENT HAMPERED

"Both these instances of sanitary control have had profound political repercussions which, as is now known, have greatly hampered the activities of the (health) department," Dr. Tonney's report stated.

Dr. Tonney said in his report that he closed Margaret's Inn which was "located on the first floor of a ramshackle building on Park avenue east, with rooming quarters upstairs reputed to be occupied by dissolute women."

The building later was torn down and replaced by a modern structure.

Dr. Tonney said he ordered installation of "adequate meat refrigeration facilities" at the restaurant in the Southern hotel and asked the owners to "abate a flagrant rat nuisance."

The commissioner described the food control situation as "wholly unsatisfactory, both in Mansfield and Richland county."

"The standards of sanitation and personal cleanliness of employes in restaurants and taverns is generally very low, and there is no effective ordinance or state regulation now in force to correct these conditions," Dr. Tonney said.

URGES ORDINANCES

He said ordinances providing for rat control and setting up stricter requirements for restaurants and food handling establishments have been recommended to the Mansfield health board.

His report listed three other

2,000 See FBI Film On Crime Prevention

More than 2,000 junior high and senior high school students saw the FBI film, "On Guard," and heard talks on "Crime Does Not Pay" as a part of "Crime Prevention Week" being sponsored here by members of the Exchange club.

Atty. William A. Calhoun spoke yesterday at an assembly at the Madison high school, telling the students of some of his experiences while an FBI agent. He cited cases of juvenile delinquency and subsequent penalties and how those criminal records would later affect their entire lives.

The FBI film "On Guard" portrayed actual espionage cases handled by the federal agency during World War II, including the landing of the eight saboteurs who were later rounded up and sentenced.

Crime prevention talks were given by Robert Pumphrey, FBI agency representative here, and Atty. Calhoun at John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed Monday, and St. Peter's high school, yesterday morning. The FBI film was also shown at these three other meetings.

Exchange club members in charge of this week's observance include Frank Berkey, president of the club, Atty. Calhoun, Pumphrey and Rev. J. C. Melchert, pastor of the St. John's Evangelical church.

Bishop Raps Medical Men

CINCINNATI— (AP) —A "closed union" operated by the medical profession is to blame for a serious shortage of doctors, says Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York.

The profession, he declared last night, controls the number of students entering medical schools and, as a result, the number of physicians in the United States increased only from 120,000 in 1920 to 175,000 twenty years later.

Taft Fights Stassen Bid

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said today he probably will make campaign addresses in each of the 11 Ohio congressional districts where Harold E. Stassen is seeking convention delegates, excepting possibly the Canton district.

Apparently intending to make a vigorous, personal campaign for all of Ohio's 53 delegates to the Republican National convention in June, Taft said he already has five engagements lined up in Ohio before the May 4 primary.

They include three appearances in Cleveland, and addresses in Springfield and Middletown.

At the same time, Taft announced that independent Taft-for-President clubs will be organized in Ohio under the direction of Paul W. Walter, Cleveland attorney.

Meteor Sky Blast Heard In 3 States

Large Kansas Area Shaken

NORTON, Kans. —(U.P.)— Authorities said today they believed a terrific explosion high in the sky over Kansas last night was caused by a meteor which blew up when it entered the earth's atmosphere.

Concussion from the blast broke windows, rocked buildings and terrified residents in some areas and was heard over a wide section of Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

The meteor left a smudge of bluish-white smoke extending across a wide segment of the sky just before it exploded about 5:01 p. m.

No one appeared to have seen the actual explosion. There was no flash.

The explosion terrified thousands of people across the three-state area. Many believed their houses had been hit by trucks. Dozens of windows were shattered.

"It sounded as though the gasoline station a block away had blown up," said M. R. Krehbiel, editor of the weekly Norton County News.

"Afterwards there were a lot of little explosions, something like the rumble after a big thunderclap. We had a cracked window in our office and the concussion knocked out the glass."

Krehbiel said the meteor apparently exploded directly over the town of Norcatur, Kans., 16 miles west of here. By estimating the angle from the earth to the explosion, he decided that the meteor blew up about 30 to 35 miles above the earth.

Chile Pushes Land Claims

President Ends Antarctic Tour

SANTIAGO, Chile — (AP) — Chilean President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla headed home today after formally setting up two military bases in disputed Antarctic territory—which he called a "land of tomorrow."

The bases were established at Chilean weather stations in defiance of long-time British claims, recently reiterated.

Gonzalez inaugurated the first on Tuesday on the weather station at Port Sovereignty on Greenwich island in the South Shetlands, some 500 miles south of the southern tip of South America.

He dedicated the second yesterday at another weather station, 60 miles to the south, on a peninsula of the Antarctic continent known to Chile as O'Higgins land and to Great Britain as Graham land. Bernardo O'Higgins, a Chilean patriot of Irish extraction, was the first chief of state of independent Chile.

Chile, Argentina and Great Britain hold overlapping claims to pie-shaped sections of Antarctica and to South Atlantic island to the north. Argentina and Britain both claim the British-administered Falkland islands and their dependencies. Britain has sent the cruiser Nigeria from South Africa to the Falklands. Argentine naval vessels are enroute to maneuvers in the same area.

Food Prices Unstable as Grains Gain

Caution Shown In All Trading

NEW YORK —(AP)— Conflicting price trends greeted the housewife at the grocery store today.

Chains increased their butter prices even as wholesale quotations fell as much as 5½ cents a pound both in Chicago and New York. At least one outlet reduced some meats and poultry. Uncertainty and caution appeared to dominate consumers, storekeepers and traders.

Most commodity prices advanced slightly.

Oats pushed ahead fractions of a cent generally at the opening of the Chicago grain pits. Corn was a half cent below previous quotations to 1¾ cents above. Wheat ran from ¾ of a cent lower to 1¾ cents higher.

Lard eased off less than a cent after going ahead by a similar margin. Hide and cottonseed oil were down.

The hog market at Chicago opened slow with a few early sales 25 cents a hundred pounds under yesterday's final prices.

Stocks were irregular and price changes were narrow.

In one of the most important moves on the industrial price front in recent months, Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation advanced semi-finished steel $9 a ton. Bethlehem Steel company increased its price to $54.

The Associated Press wholesale price index of 35 basic commodities slid a fraction of a point yesterday to 187.03. It was 187.20 Tuesday and 188.35 on Monday.

Woman Told She Buried Wrong Man

BOSTON —(AP)— A month ago Alice D. Bowen received word her father, James, 72, had died at Boston State hospital.

She arranged for the funeral. Many friends attended the wake. The body was buried in a local cemetery.

She received word from the hospital yesterday that there had been a wrong identification—she had buried the body of James Bowen, 85, a member of another unrelated family.

Attaches at the hospital explained the mistake was discovered when Mrs. Mary Fraser came to visit her brother—the man who had died. She did not recognize the man to whose bedside she was led.

Dr. Walter E. Barton, hospital superintendent, said the fact that there was a similarity in the general appearance of the men apparently caused the mistake.

Frigid Blasts On Way

Low of 20 Seen Tomorrow

BULLETIN

A temperature plunge of possibly 50 degrees was forecast at noon today by International News Service quoting Columbus weather bureau expert A. S. Klemetsmo. The prediction was that the cold would remain through tomorrow with zero readings likely by Saturday morning.

Spring-like weather prevailed throughout Ohio today, but the weather bureau warned that a cold wave was expected to sweep into the state late this afternoon.

The cold front, moving in on Ohio from the north central states, will be accompanied by snow flurries, the weather experts predicted. They said it will be mostly cloudy and quite cold tomorrow with a "moderate" cold wave. A low of about 20 degrees is expected by tomorrow morning.

In Mansfield yesterday the mercury climbed to a balmy 60 degrees at 4 p. m. In the business district, men were walking around comfortably without their overcoats. In residential areas mothers were out with their youngsters in baby carriages and strollers, making the most of the unusual weather.

The thermometer failed to show a reading below 49 in the 24 hours ending at 1 p. m. today. Lowest reading was 49 at 6:30 a. m. The noon temperature was 57, according to the CAA weather station at municipal airport.

'FALSE SPRING'

The weatherman called it a "false spring." The mercury hit a new high for Feb. 18 at Columbus when it climbed to 64 degrees, two degrees above the record set in 1890.

The mass of cold air rushed out of Canada southeastward across the north central states today, plunging temperatures as much as 27 degrees in less than three hours.

The cold wave ended a four-day thaw and threatened once again the critically short supply of fuel oil and gas.

The Chicago weather bureau said the new cold front was "moving like a shot" and would push into the Ohio valley tomorrow morning and probably would extend to the Atlantic coast by Saturday. It was expected to cover states as far south as Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Did Chessrown's Boxers Kill Sheep?

Ashland's a-Fussin' Again as New Dog Trial Looms

ASHLAND—A sequel to Ashland county's "boxer dog case" appeared in the making today with announcement by Prosecutor C. W. Chorpening that he will file a motion for a new trial because of new evidence he has obtained connecting the boxers with sheep-killing.

Chorpening's announcement followed recording of the journal entry in which Judge E. H. Savord, Sandusky, who heard the case last month, cleared Todd Chessrown's three prize boxers of sheep-killing charges brought by Lake township trustees. The judge had delayed his verdict.

Prosecutor Chorpening announced today that samples of wool taken from the dog's stomachs and samples from a sheep rug from the Chesrown farm have been returned from the Ohio State university animal husbandry department with a report that the two samples are not similar.

The defense had based part of its case on the argument that the wool found in the dog's stomach had been chewed from the sheepskin rug in the Chessrown barn and not from sheep killed on the A. A. Easly farm last July.

Chorpening plans to submit the letter as part of his argument in seeking a new trial based on the evidence in his report. Professor L. A. Kauffman of the OSU department of animal husbandry, states that the sample of wool taken from the dog's stomach appears to be from the legs of a sheep or lamb below the point where sheep are shorn. This, Chorpening declares, will prove that the dogs had taken the wool from live sheep, presumably those killed at the Easly farm.

The case originated when Lake township trustees brought action asking a court order for destruction of the three Chessrown boxers and repayment of a $75 claim paid by the dog and kennel fund because the dogs were killed as ordered.

Louis Bromfield, noted Richland county author-farmer, appeared as an expert witness for the defense to testify that boxers were "friendly, home-loving dogs" who would not engage in sheep-killing.

Destruction of the dogs was eliminated from the case when Judge Savord ruled the court had no power to order their destruction. This left as the only object of the trial determination of whether or not the dogs had killed the Easley sheep, for which Easly had been reimbursed $75 by the county.

Dr. Tonney Charges Politics Hampered Health Department

"outstanding deficiencies" in the city-county health department. They are:

1. Lack of public health service to expectant mothers.

2. Lack of dental service to indigent school children in the county to correspond to that provided for Mansfield children.

3. Lack of a meat inspection ordinance to safeguard against hazards of trichinosis and other diseases spread through diseased meat.

Dr. Tonney listed these improvements in the health department last year:

Restoration of the Visiting Nurses, service, addition of two nurses to the health staff, a gain in immunization of school children against small pox and diphtheria in the county's rural areas, and better methods of treating ringworm in school children.

The commissioner said complete systematic examination of school children was restored. He said the complete exmination service had not been in effect since before the war. He listed 1,525 medical examinations of school children last year.

CITES CLINIC

Other major steps in the health program were the opening of the cancer clinic at General hospital and obtaining of $12,700 in state and federal funds to match local money for support of the clinic.

Dr. Tonney called for a per capita expenditure of $1.10 for health services to build an adequate department. The Mansfield and Richland county per capita expenditure from local taxes in 1947 was 51 cents, he said.

Some of the criticism against Dr. Tonney was based on the health department activities in the control of venereal diseases. Work in connection with the venereal program showed a decline during the year while most other departments reported increased activities.

The Mansfield syphilis clinic report for 1947 showed 411 admissions for treatment as against 562 in 1946. There were 2,111 clinic visits last year, a sharp drop from the 4,161 recorded in 1946.

On the other hand, 62 Mansfield patients were referred to the rapid treatment center as compared with only 26 in 1946. This point brought criticism from city health board members.

In the count,y 45 venereal disease patients were referred to the rapid treatment center. The number was 11 in 1946. There were 221 admissions to treatment in the county last year, an increase of 13 over 1946.

Copies of the health report are submitted to Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, city council, and the Richland county district health advisory council.

Democrats Hoist Distress Signal In Face of Wallace Drive

Appeal Asks Third Party To Quit Race

McGrath Admits Signs of Danger

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Democratic National committee raised an out and out distress signal today in the face of the Henry A. Wallace third party drive.

Chairman J. Howard McGrath said he hopes Wallace will "realize" he can accomplish nothing but "the defeat of the Democratic party's program of practical liberalism in 1948."

McGrath virtually appealed for abandonment of the Wallace campaign in a radio speech last night.

The address followed McGrath's frank admission the victory of a Wallace-backed candidate in Tuesday's New York congressional election is a big danger sign for the Democrats.

ALP WINS UPSET

In the New York race, Leo Isacson, running as an American Labor party candidate with Wallace's support, upset Democrat Karl Propper by a wide margin.

Wallace, on a speech-making tour of the south, gave no indication he plans to heed any call to "come home, all is forgiven."

Instead he announced at Miami Beach his supporters have obtained 464,000 signatures on a petition to put his name on the primary election ballot in California. Franklin D. Roosevelt carried the state by only about 475,000 votes in 1944.

Meanwhile the row between national Democratic leaders and party members in the "Solid South" flared up again in Washington.

A group of southerners cancelled their reservations for the big $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson dinners tonight where prominent Democrats will rally around President Truman.

NEGROES INVITED

Mrs. Olin D. Johnston, wife of the South Carolina senator, said she decided not to attend the dinner "because I might be seated next to a Negro."

McGrath told reporters a dozen or more Negroes planned to attend the two dinners here. He said he could not order any segregation.

McGrath showed deep concern over the Wallace threat in his radio address. He said he thinks Wallace himself is "sincere" enough, but added:

"The fact that the loudest applause for Henry Wallace comes from communists, communist fellow travelers and reactionary Republicans causes me to believe that the bulk of Henry Wallace's support is coming from those whose basic allegiance is not to the American way of life.

YWCA Committee Sponsors Forum

The Public Affairs committee of the YWCA will sponsor a forum at the association building Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Topic of the discussion will be the war refuge problem in lands where thousands are now without homes and families. Miss Dorothy Landers, Miss Frances Randall, Mrs. William Hauserman and Mrs. M. W. Wappner will conduct the forum and the discussion to follow.

Orders Fee Paid

The county auditor's office yesterday was directed by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch to pay Attorney Lydon H. Beam $50 for his services in behalf of Estill Walton of Shelby.

Beam was appointed by the court to represent Walton, charged with operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. Walton changed his plea of innocent to guilty last week and was placed on probation for five years.

Workmen Search for Links Between 2 Sewer Systems

Workmen began excavating at the intersection of Park avenue west and Linden road today in an attempt to find and remove connections between the storm and sanitary sewer systems.

B. V. BeVier, city sanitary engineer, explained that one of the major causes of basements being flooded by backed up sanitary sewers is the draining of storm water into the sanitary system which doesn't have the capacity during heavy rains.

Since records in the engineering department are not complete, the sewer department has begun a program of tearing up the street, digging down to the sanitary sewer and tracing it to find places where the storm water is getting into the sanitary system, BeVier said.

The department previously surveyed part of the city and removed downspouts which were draining into the sanitary sewer system.

Storm water that the department thinks gets into the sanitary system around Park avenue west and Linden road has caused many basements in the area west of Senior high school to be flooded during heavy rains.

County Delays Ditch Contract

County commissioners yesterday postponed until Saturday awarding of a contract for improvement of the Hanna road ditch in Madison township.

The commissioners received two bids for deepening and placing a pipe for a length of 200 feet. Each bid was for $855. The figure was $45 under the county engineering department's estimate.

The bids were offered by Zimmerman Brothers Contracting company and R. O. Darling.

Driver Accused of Unsafe Operation

Carson Bradshaw, 20, of 13 Madison avenue, was held today in the county jail on a charge of unsafe operation after his car figured in an accident on Bowman street near the Empire Steel plant.

A. F. Martin, Akron, driver of the other car, filed the charge. The accident occurred yesterday afternoon. No one was injured.

Lexington-Ontario Road Being Cindered

Sixty truck-loads of cinders were being applied to sections of the Lexington-Ontario road early today and County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said the road was to be opened to traffic at noon.

Rusk said that was the only road in the county system closed as a result of Friday's heavy rain and subsequent thawing.

P-TA Marks Founding

An observance of the national anniversary of the founding of the P-TA in Washington on Feb. 17, 1897 marked the meeting Tuesday night of the Newman school P-TA.

Mrs. Charles Fensch discussed the national organization and told of the founding of the Newman group. It grew out of a meeting of teachers and parents interested in children, she said, and the club was called, "The Friendly Meeting."

It was started in 1915 by J. leo Hartmann then principal of Newman school, and Charles Fensch. Later at a meeting addressed by Louis Barr and Rev. G. A. Kiesle, the group became the Newman P-TA.

The newly-elected president, Mrs. Sam Hall, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Hall takes the place of Vern Kyle who resigned when he moved out of the district.

Girl Scouts of Troop No. 11, under the leadership of Miss Frances Wolfe, Mrs. Walter McElroy and Mrs. Philip Lodge, presented a reading, "The Child Speaks."

A huge founders' day cake, with coffee, was served at the close of the meeting.

YWCA Leader To Talk Here

Mrs. Richard S. Douglas of Cleveland, a member of the national board of the YWCA, will be the speaker for the annual dinner meeting of the association hereon Friday, Feb. 27.

Dinner will be observed in the Park Avenue Baptist church at 6:30 p. m.

In addition to Mrs. Douglas's talk, members of the young people's high schools groups will present "The Blue Triangle Special," a dramatic skit. Miss Betty Blackstone, newly-elected president of the association, will preside.

Tickets are now on sale by the YW and board members. Since the church can accommodate only 200 and more than 100 tickets have already been sold, Miss Blackstone is urging that members get their tickets as quickly as possible.

Jenkins and Cat Cleared

HOLLYWOOD —(U.P.)— Actor Allen Jenkins and his cat were cleared today of drunk driving charges.

"This is a great relief to Smiley," Jenkins said. "He was upset about us being lawbreakers."

Jenkins, who exonerated Smiley, his cat, during the trial, was acquitted yesterday.

"I don't want him to have a police record," he said.

He told police who arrested him Jan. 26 that Smiley was doing the driving, and he was just along for the ride.

AUTO ABANDONED

A car which had been abandoned on State Route 39 near the entrance to the Westbrook Country club at 1:20 a. m., today was towed to a garage, deputy sheriffs said. The car bears license VY-117.

Boys Held After Car Stalls In Mud

Two Cleveland youths, 13 and 14, were held today by Richland county authorities after the boys confessed stealing a car near Medina and driving it to Mansfield.

The youths were apprehended on a tip from a Ridge road woman who told deputy sheriffs she saw the boys trying to get the car out of the mud near her home. Cleveland police have been advised. Deputy Sheriffs Glenn Humphrey and Foster Palmer found the pair walking toward Mansfield from the stalled car.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE SIX MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1948

A flight into even bigger figures is found in an effort to express a half billion American dollars in terms of Chinese dollars.

A Georgia judge has again ruled that man is "the head of the house"—but no steps are being taken toward general enforcement.

A California anatomist now confirms a previous claim that "man is shorter at the end of the day"—and even more so if he has been doing the marketing.

Ponder Meaning of Bronx Election

OUTCOME of Tuesday's special congressional election in New York's Bronx district promises to be among the most widely discussed events of the month—with reverberations extending right on through to the November election.

What does it mean—the election of a Wallace-backed candidate over the strongly supported Democratic candidate in a consistently Democratic district?

Democrats are inclined to attribute the result to communist influence being stronger than suspected, while Leo Isacson, successful candidate of the American Labor party, terms his victory as "a resounding repudiation by the people of the policies of the Truman administration, policies which are leading down the road to war."

Whatever the interpretations—as they are being presented by deeply concerned observers on all sides of the issues involved—the effect of such evidence of Democratic support of the Wallace preachment is unlikely to be disregarded in political circles.

Airport's Practical Value Shown

WHAT Mansfield's airport means to the city becomes gradually more apparent. That it is not just a convenience for a few businessmen or travelers who want to get somewhere in a hurry was amply demonstrated during the past 10 days when one local factory kept going in the face of a supply shortage by using air freight.

It was the proximity of the port and regular trunkline air service which made possible the keeping of hundreds of men and women on their jobs.

Mansfielders can expect that, as time goes on, more instances will pile up showing what a valuable asset the city has in its municipally owned airport.

Life On Other Planets Probable

NOW that astronomers have looked across 63 million miles and discovered some green spots on Mars, which may be some sort of vegetation, there is appearance of continuing interest in whether or not life can exist on this neighboring planet.

There has been contention that the atmosphere of Mars is not such as to make animal or vegetable life possible—but this expresses the view of observers on Earth, rather than an appreciation of the likelihood of life on other planets being adapted to environment, rather than having the same requirements as life on Earth.

It seems quite improbable that the vast expanses of this and other universes should have been created for no other purpose than to provide fields of study for astronomers on this relatively small planet.

It is probably difficult for fish to understand how life can exist without a surrounding of water.

Who Owns Those Roaming Cats?

A COMPLAINT being heard with increasing frequency has to do with roaming cats, with which some residential neighborhoods are infested—without appearance of concern on the part of owners.

Many persons complain of having sleep disturbed by yowling of these animals during the night—but even more, who enjoy the presence of birds in their yards, call attention to the slaughter of birds by stealthy cats which congregate at favorite feeding places.

There can be no objection, of course, to ownership of a cat—or a half dozen cats, for that matter—but the responsibility of cat-owners to keep their pets at home instead of permitting them to become a neighborhood nuisance should be made quite clear, and stray cats might well be accorded the same treatment as stray dogs, rather than permitting them to become nocturnal pests.

Oil Plays Part In Foreign Policy

AMERICAN foreign policy is being made today in the basements of homes with oil-burning furnaces. The man watching the thermometer and the gauge on his tank knows that oil is becoming more expensive and harder to get. Sometimes he has been unable to fill an empty tank at once. He knows oil supply is important.

His need for oil dictates the policies of America in dealing with the Middle East, for the time has come when America must have oil from other countries. With final exact figures not yet available, there is some disagreement in high quarters as to whether we imported more oil than we exported in 1947. But there is no disagreement about 1948. The United States this year will import substantially more petroleum products than it can export, will even import crude oil to help keep the refineries at home going.

The National Petroleum Council estimates the net import balance in 1948 will average 91,000 barrels a day, roughly two per cent of domestic production at the 1947 rate.

Some in the industry believe we may need a million barrels a day within twenty years. The Middle East is the most promising source of such a supply, and therefore United States policy with Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and the other nations of that area must be shaped, with that need in mind.

Master barbers in Chicago have vetoed a proposal to raise the price of haircuts to $1.25—feeling that such a step might be interpreted as inflationary, also, probably, that it might be clipping the customer a little too close.

What Some Other People Are Saying

Washington Calling

Atomic Project Advances

By MARQUIS CHILDS

JUST a year ago, the Senate was torn by a bitter feud over the confirmation of David Lilienthal, chairman, and the four other members of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission. This was in reality the second round in the struggle to transfer the vast new power of atomic fission from military to civilian authority.

Those who wanted to block confirmation were also those who, for the most part, preferred to leave the two-billion-dollar atomic project under the guardianship of men in uniform. They had lost their battle on the issue itself a year before. And they lost again when the five commissioners were finally confirmed.

What has happened since then? What has civilian control meant? Is the commission a success?

To try to find some of the answers, I have talked with members of the commission, with military men, with scientists, with members of Congress who serve on the joint committee on atomic energy, and with others. They agree for the most part on the following:

1. Progress has been made under the civilian commission.

2. No other form of control that could win congressional and public approval would work so well.

A few individuals would dissent from this verdict. But their prejudices seem to be so fixed that, even if the commission had performed miracles, they would not have been convinced.

There have been no miracles unless you count hard work a miracle. By constant, untiring effort, the commission has progressed toward putting the project on a long-term basis.

Conflicts with the military liaison committee have not developed. The law creating the commission provides that the military committee may appeal to the President when overruled by the commission. No such appeal has been taken to the White House.

* * *

Politics Ruled Out.

THE commissioners were appointed for only one year, and must be reappointed and confirmed by the Senate to insure continuity.

It is as though a corporation operating one of the biggest and most complex businesses in the world contemplated changing its board of directors annually. The corporation would not thrive. And a political ruckus in this political year could set back the whole atomic-energy project. New men would inevitably have to learn the job.

While there have been rumors of dissension among the commissioners, they emphatically deny that any major differences have divided them. They are of varying political beliefs. Lewis L. Strauss is a Hoover Republican. W. W. Waymack was editor of a Republican newspaper. Lilienthal is rated a New Dealer because he championed the TVA idea.

But politics has been strictly barred. Even while some members of congress grumble, they realize that AEC had to bar the door absolutely against political interference.

The moment it was opened for a single appointee with the proper political blessing, the commission would have been in for trouble.

An operation of this magnitude could not be run with political interference. The commission in this fiscal year will direct the spending of about a half billion dollars.

Good news rarely makes the front page. The story of AEC during the past year is good news. In several columns to follow, I want to report some of the details of this story.

Taft In Crusader Role

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON—The course of Republican party policy in Congress and in the election campaign may be influenced more than immediately appears likely by the eight-day, midwinter trip of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio into the midwest.

This is due to the power in Congress of the vigorous and persistent Senate leader; to the weight of the midwest which he symbolizes in many ways in Republican party councils, in Congress and outside, and because of the currently critical stage of national and international policy.

While it is easy for the close observer to magnify the significance of an event, it is ventured that what was on the surface a routine trip to make a few Lincoln day speeches and to try to pick up delegates for the Taft campaign for the Republican presidential nomination may turn out to be something quite different in effect and perhaps more important in the long run.

Senator Taft seems to have accomplished two things on his tour.

First, he aroused and gave voice to the latent isolationism in the great midlands between the coasts at a particularly strategic time, with the Marshall Plan now getting right under the gun, so to speak, in Congress. The next few weeks will be decisive in that great undertaking.

What is often overlooked in such an event as the Taft tour is that while to the newspaper reader far away it is just another item of telegraph news that he may skip over or note casually, it is the big event of the day in the community where it occurs.

Everywhere Senator Taft stopped and spoke—and he stopped and made speeches at nine points in five states—it was a big event.

* * *

Wife At His Side.

His appearances and addresses were elaborately covered in local newspapers and widely detailed over the radio. The publicity was enhanced by the presence on the trip of his wife, Martha Taft, who herself made two full-length speeches with radio hook-up, spoke briefly when introduced a few other times, was always at her husband's side, and was interviewed in news and feature stories wherever the party went. And Martha Taft never misses an opportunity to put in a good word for her Bob and what he stands for.

All of this stirred up interest and started little waves that undoubtedly will wash into Washington to help solidify opposition of midwest congressmen to an effective Marshall Plan, and may eventually have an influence on formulation of long-time Republican foreign policy at the Philadelphia convention in June.

In the second place, Senator Taft preached day after day a no-compromise policy for his party with New Idealism and all of its works. That may strengthen the hard-boiled conservatives of the party against its progressive and less potent wing. This is important, both in Congress and in the convention and the campaign to follow.

Senator Taft became a crusader, nay almost a martyr. He sees himself leading a great crusade to save what he regards as "the American system."

He is the true liberal, as he said in many more words in his Omaha speech. He depicts the New Deal and its "imitation" by the Truman administration as the suppressors of American liberty and the beginning of totalitarianism. He was vehement about it, with an almost fanatic vigor of tone and language.

Soft-Shell Black Walnuts.

Word comes from the Ohio agricultural experiment station at Canfield that experimenters have produced a black walnut with a soft shell and large meat, resembling an English walnut in every respect except taste.

There are few richer or more enjoyable flavors in all the gastronomic realm than that of the black walnut. Heretofore it has been available only to those with the patience to crack the tough, rugged shell and spend time and labor digging the succulent morsels from their tortuous hiding places.

The prospect of a paper-shelled nut which breaks evenly in halves from which the huge meats almost drop of their own weight is an alluring one.—Columbus Dispatch.

Reporter Pries Into MacArthur's Past

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It is considered more than significant that a crack reporter for the Cincinnati Times-Star, owned by the Taft family, has left for Australia to cover the route which General MacArthur took on his northward advance from Australia to the Philippines.

The reporter is Douglass M. Allen jr., who left for Australia early in January and is scheduled to hit Korea and Japan around April 15, working his way north through the Philippines and the battle-scarred Pacific islands.

Inside word is that Allen will do a little quiet probing of certain incidents surrounding MacArthur's campaign, which, during the war, were shrouded by censorship.

One of these is the famous jungle mansion which MacArthur had the Seabees build for him on a hill overlooking Hollandia.

MacArthur aroused Navy resentment—at times, even bitterness—during his northward advance to the Philippines. And if he decides to become a presidential candidate, obviously it would not hurt his rival candidates, including Senator Taft, to have certain hitherto censored information told to the American public during the crucial days just before the Republican convention in Philadelphia.

Goebbels Diary.

A BACKSTAGE row is developing over whether the diary of Joseph Goebbels belongs to the United States government or to the Herbert Hoover library.

The Goebbels' diary, about 7,000 pages long, was recently discovered in Germany by friends of Herbert Hoover while Hoover was on a survey of Germany's economic conditions. The diary has been carefully edited and annotated by Louis Lochner, former ace Associated Press correspondent in Berlin, and is shortly being released to American newspapers by the North American Newspaper Alliance, with book publication handled by Doubleday & Co., Inc.

However, the Alien property custodian claims that all former property of the Nazi government in the American zone of Germany now belongs to the American people, and that the profits from the Goebbels diary should go to the U. S. treasury. Justice department officials also claim that the original of the diary should be deposited in the Library of Congress, though friends of Herbert Hoover have already made plans to deposit it in the Hoover library.

Hitler's propaganda minister kept a most meticulous day-to-day account of his hate plans and his conversations with Hitler. Part of the diary is devoted to diatribes against the Jews and Catholics and tells of vows to liquidate both religions after the war. It is obvious from the diary that Goebbels was insane.

Note—Louis Lochner has done an excellent editing job with cross-references to the many Nazi figures mentioned in the Goebbels diary.

How Gas Lobby Works.

THE public-utility lobby has long been known as the most brazen in Washington, while Senator Ed Moore of Oklahoma has long been known as the tool of one section of this lobby—the gas and oil interests.

But just how brazen this lobby is and how closely it is linked with Senator Moore has leaked out only recently in connection with the appointment of Burton Behling to the Federal Power Commission.

Shortly after Behling's name was first sent to the Senate to be a Federal Power commissioner, he received a summons to report to Senator Moore's office. There, much to his surprise, Guy Woodward, Moore's chief assistant, introduced him to F. M. Porter, president of the Mid-Continental Oil and Gas Association.

Together, Woodward and Porter tried to back Behling into a corner on the price of natural gas.

Particularly they wanted to know how he stood on the famous Rizley Bill which would permit the gas companies to hike gas prices just at a time when customers can least afford it and when gas companies are already making record profits.

Behling was then preparing an exhaustive report on natural gas for the commission, and to disclose his position in advance would have been unethical. He refused to commit himself.

Whereupon Senator Moore held a political club over Behling's head and blocked his confirmation to the Federal Power Commission.

Moore's bludgeoning was so raw-faced that FPC Commissioner Harrington Wimberly, a fellow Oklahoman, wrote a letter of protest.

"It seems to me improper," Wimberly commented, "for anyone to seek at this time any commitment from Mr. Behling as to what his position on this very important matter will be before he has had an opportunity to complete his study."

However, whether because of Moore's political club or because of his own personal conviction, Behling has now recommended exactly the price boost for natural gas previously demanded by Senator Moore and his friend, gas-lobbyist Porter.

Incidentally, Moore is now delighted to try to push through Behling's confirmation to the Federal Power Commission.

What Any Fool Knows

By KENNETH L. DIXON

ROME, ITALY—This is a travel talk entitled "Backwards Through Brenner Pass," or "Hannibal Had It Easy!"

Now any fool can read the weather reports should know that you can not drive through the Alps in the dead of winter—but I'm no fool, so I tried it.

Some friends offered to drive me from Munich to Milan, despite the fact that the rest of the people in our party were taking the train, because the weather had grounded all planes.

These sober-sided citizens stressed that such bad weather might just possibly breed a bit of snow, but my motoring friends pointed out that it had not snowed in Brenner Pass in nearly six weeks. Therefore, was it likely to snow on this one particular day? Obviously not!

By the time we were a few kilometers beyond Innsbruck, still some considerable distance short of the peak, it had only snowed five or six inches, not counting the drifted depths, of course. Forlornly, we dug ourselves out and returned to an inn for the night.

The bedroom at the inn must have been designed by one of those sadistic fresh-air health fiends, it was warmer in the street outside.

Anyhow, after a night of shivering, we arose to find that the snowfall had hit a total of ten inches—rather light for the upper Alps in February, but still enough to halt our auto progress. . . . Yes, quite enough. . . .

So we went into Innsbruck to see about loading the auto on a railroad flatcar for transporting through the pass.

After two hours and fifteen minutes of conferring with everybody except the president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and somehow donating a carton of priceless cigarets to the Austrian railroad union, we discovered that it could be done.

The guy who owned the car found out at the last minute that we needed to buy first-class tickets just to sit in our auto on the flatcar, and he just jumped aboard—after buying them—as the train was pulling out. It was still snowing.

* * *

No Looking Ahead.

WE WERE hooked on to the tail end of the train, with an engineer who had played crack-the-whip as a child. Through those hairpin turns and around those precipitous cliffs, the old game lost something of its zest.

Also, the union crew had tacked our auto onto the flatcar backwards, so, like the whatchamacallit bird, we couldn't see where we were going—only where we had been.

Technically, we were going to Bolzano, Italy, which was some distance down the mountain—but we didn't know the border people.

Before we knew what had happened, they'd jerked our flatcar off the train at Brennero (the Italian frontier) and shoved it over on a siding.

Then, after both the railroad and the highway customs inspectors had finished pawing through every piece of luggage, we were informed there was no ramp for unloading the car and no train going on through for at least five hours.

After another carton of cigarets, about ten thousand lire, and a horrifying moment when the planks cracked as the car was being eased off the flatcar, we were picking our way through the highway snow down the southern slopes of the Alps.

In Milan, of course, it developed that the party had proceeded on to Rome, so I scrounged a ride on a converted (and discarded, I think) U. S. Army plane, flown by a frustrated Italian fighter pilot.

Without bothering to warm up the engines or taxiing over to the runway, he took off from the Milano turf while the cylinders were still yawning. Fortunately, they all woke up—and I didn't feel sleepy either.

At Florence, the overcast was closing in a bit, so he solved the situation by diving on the airport from about ten thousand feet. It scared me more than I had been on the first bomber raid on Florence about four years ago!

Eventually, we landed in Rome with no more mishaps . . . and so we leave behind us the picturesque snow-covered Alps and famous Brenner Pass, which any fool knows he can not drive through in the dead of winter.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

A MILLIONAIRE has startled art circles by claiming he was not quite sober when he paid $31,500 for a painting . . . Now several other art patrons are examining their pictures and their diaries.

* * *

There was a time when a man's wife would phone down to the corner tavern when he was out late . . . Now she'll have to check the art galleries too.

* * *

And it seems obvious that the fellow who drew "the face on the bar room floor" was ahead of his time . . . Today he could open a studio and make real money.

* * *

But I say if a man is to be questioned about his sobriety when he buys a painting the artist should be given the balloon test too . . . He's the fellow who painted it.

Dave Boone Says:

"IF HUMAN beings can learn only by experience that war is futile, the next war will surely be convincing," says "Ike" Eisenhower, adding that in an atomic war "the survivors, victor and vanquished alike, will possess a wasted world in which civilization cannot exist."

* * *

Every paragraph and line of the Eisenhower warning should be read by every man, woman and child. But it probably won't get nearly the attention that would be given a statement by some movie star on why she left her husband.

* * *

"Ike" says it may be a generation or even a century before nations can develop practical measures for banishing war. That ought to stop the practice of watching UN with a stop-watch.

Sixty days will be the outside time for us to get going after an attack, he says. The general is an optimist, if you ask me.

Beware of Fire Causes

By CALVIN A. BYERS

A QUAINT white country church burned to the ground not far from here recently. Fire equipment rushed from the nearest village was inadequate to stop the flames, which seemed to have started where the electric wires entered one side of the steeple. The church basement had been enlarged and modernized only last year. Now all is a blackened ruin. Possibly insulation was worn from the entering wires and high winds were the direct cause of a short circuit.

* * *

A FARMER'S wife was proud of her ability to tinker with electric gadgets. Last spring she rigged up a temporary brooder for young chicks heated by electric light bulbs with the current brought from the barn over a long extension cord.

One hot summer day, when the chickens were half grown, she disconnected the brooder, but forgot to disconnect the other end of the cord from the barn wiring system. Every evening the family horse was turned out to graze in the back lot.

One late afternoon after a heavy thunder shower, they found old Nell mysteriously dead. She had been running across the lot only a few minutes before. She had eaten a hearty supper. It was a long time before the farmer noticed the pieces of a ragged wire and came into the house to ask, "Did anybody turn on the barn lights since the rain?"

"Why yes," said his wife. "I wanted to see if they would work—and they did, so that lightning flash didn't hurt anything after all. It seemed so near." Then he showed her the mutilated wires and explained that the other end had still been connected with the barn wiring. Nell was electrocuted as her wet forelegs made connection with the brooderhouse current when the barn lights were turned on.

* * *

ONE of the best plumbing and wiring firms I ever knew made it a business to furnish every patron with a complete map of all wiring and hidden plumbing. They urged regular inspection of wiring and offered this service regularly for a stipulated sum.

Fire is a greater hazard on a farm than elsewhere. Figure out your own plan of safety, then work the plan.

Ask $2,000 Fund Transfer

Trustees of Perry township yesterday filed in common pleas court a petition requesting authority to transfer $2,000 from the township's general to its road and bridge funds.

The trustees, Boyd Simmons, Earl Bryan and John Steel, said in the petition that the general fund, as of Jan. 5, had a balance of $2,623, the road and bridge fund, $280.

They said the transfer is required properly to maintain the roads. The state department of taxation approved the transfer request.

British Doctors Reject Plan For Free Medical Service

LONDON—(AP)—Britain's doctors have voted overwhelmingly against taking part in the government's new program for free medical service, the British Medical association said Wednesday.

Whether the doctors will strike against the authority of parliament, which passed the medical service act last year, will be decided by the BMA'S representative assembly of 376 doctors March 17.

The poll, conducted by the BMA, showed 25,340 doctors voted against the law "in its present form" and 4,084 approved it.

Results of the ballot were distributed in advance to newspapers and news agencies for publication at 12:30 a. m. today. The BMA lifted this embargo after the London Evening Standard published the results with the front page explanation:

"The Evening Standard is opposed to all embargoes . . . They are generally quite needless and merely have the effect of impeding the swift transmission of news to the public. . . . These figures are of vital importance in the country."

Maria Finds 'Right Man'

NEW YORK—(AP)—Maria Formicola, whose ex-GI fiance was killed before she reached this country last December, has taken her pick of scores of marriage proposals that followed the tragedy.

She chose a trumpet player.

Maria, 21, pretty Italian, was to marry James McIntosh of Guerrant, Ky. But when she arrived here she learned he had died after an automobile accident.

She went to live with a second cousin, Michael Catanco, on Staten Island, and that was where she found the right man. He is Michael's son, Anthony, 21, who plays the trumpet in a Staten Island dance band and also is an ex-GI. They will be married in March, Maria said.

A BATTLE IS WON— BUT NOT A WAR

All-out Aid of Homes, Business Places and Industries Helped Gas Service Through a Severe Crisis

At no time has our system operated at such low pressures without a single community being out of gas—nor has there ever been a time when we delivered more gas.

The winter of prolonged, extreme temperatures—which we had hoped against—finally arrived. We had informed our customers that pipe, compressors and other equipment of our trade had been received in too small quantities to furnish enough gas to cope with such weather. Certain anticipated supplies of gas for this winter failed to arrive, adding to the difficulties.

DELIVERIES FALL SHORT

The Columbia Gas System, of which we are a part, receives some 188 million cubic feet of gas a day from the Tennessee Gas & Transmission Corporation. By January 1st this amount was to be increased to 227 million cubic feet, but completion of their construction program was delayed and the increase was not received. The promise had been made for 233 million cubic feet a day for February, but could not be met again for the same reason. Help cannot be had from this source until later in the month or perhaps March 1st.

Columbia has been receiving about 95 million cubic feet of gas a day from The Texas Eastern Pipe Line Company (Big and Little Inch Lines). The amount expected by this time was 140 million. Construction of additional compressor stations has been their problem. We believe these supplying companies did their best. They had their difficulties too. However, had The Ohio Fuel Gas Company received its share of gas from these sources, our problems would have been far less difficult.

The propane storage tanks at two points in our system were intended to bolster gas supplies only during the peak period of demand on the coldest days. Instead, we had to draw on this emergency supply, day after day, until it was exhausted. Specially constructed tank cars and tank trucks necessary to move additional propane to our tanks were practically unavailable.

CUSTOMER SAVINGS HELPED

Disappointments—yes! The one hopeful note was the great savings of gas in homes, business places and industries. After full industrial curtailment, customer sacrifices often were the only margin between our operating and being out of gas. Customers in some communities experienced service difficulties.

To all of these who made sacrifices, during the public emergency, we express a heartfelt THANK YOU. Most helpful, too, was the action of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, curtailing commercial gas, and of the Federal Power Commission in diverting gas from outside sources into this area. Assistance of the press and radio was invaluable in keeping the public informed.

Normal service again prevails to homes and commercial establishments. However, industries still are being denied gas to insure service to homes. The more gas saved by those now enjoying normal service, the sooner industries can return to full operation.

The weather might easily dictate other emergencies before winter is past. Promised help from supplying companies may come in time to assist. Before another winter comes, greatly increased quantities of gas—not mentioned here—should be flowing into our system. Again to those who helped, perhaps at great trials of patience, we say

THANK YOU!

2 Sessions Called on Vets' Bonus

Workers to Get Their Instructions

Veterans bonus representatives from eight surrounding counties comprising District 3, will meet for the first application-instruction session tonight at the Ashland county court house.

The meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p. m. will be held for representatives of Richland, Ashland, Wayne, Medina, Crawford, Erie, Huron and Lorain counties. Bert Wendlegest, district field representative for the Ohio Veterans Compensation Fund, will be in charge.

The Ashland session will immediately precede the first Richland county meeting to be held Friday night at the state employment service office, 54 North Diamond street, for the benefit of all organizations planning to assist in the distribution of the application forms.

Harry A. Vandervort, Richland county bonus representative, said eight veterans organizations and service agencies in Mansfield have volunteered to assist in the distribution of bonus applications, beginning March 1

These organizations are· McVey Post No. 16, American Legion, Richland Post No. 72, American Legion; Robert P. Spreng Post 26, Amvets; Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, Richland county Red Cross chapter, the employment service office and the American Veterans Committee

RUSH ANTICIPATED

"I expect two-thirds of the applications to be filled during the first week," Vandervort said, adding that veterans may fill out the forms at the Soldiers' Relief office, 82 West Fourth street, under supervision of notaries public.

There will be no charge for the required notarization of the applications at the veterans' office. The Soldiers' Relief office will remain open from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m. the first week of the distribution, Monday through Saturday. Throughout the remainder of March, the office will remain open Saturday afternoons until 5 p. m.

Once the application is made out, the veteran must send his original discharge papers along with the application.

"Veterans shouldn't hesitate to send in their original papers since photostat copies of all discharge papers will be made for the state file and the originals, along with the compensation claim number, returned to the veteran in a few days," Vandervort said

In the case of overseas veterans whose discharge papers show no record of foreign duty, the veterans are asked to send along a letter, received while overseas, which may verify the out-of-country service.

"This is very true of navy veterans whose overseas duty was not recorded on their discharges after 1944 " the county representative added

CIO Opens Wage Fight

DETROIT —(UP)— The CIO United Auto Workers, shifting into high gear in their drive for a third round of postwar wage increases, have formally demanded a 30-cent hourly pay boost and other benefits from the Chrysler corporation.

Implementing a decision reached by the union's Chrysler council last week, Norman Matthews, national Chrysler director for the UAW, delivered the demands to the company in person Wednesday. He asked that negotiations begin next Tuesday.

Wage talks at the General Motors corporation will begin later this month and the two campaigns will be carried on simultaneously.

The UAW has requested a flat 30-cent hourly wage increase for its 75,000 Chrysler members and demanded, in addition, a health insurance plan, a pension program, a guaranteed weekly wage, and other benefits.

OSU Offers Scholarships

COLUMBUS —(INS)—Ohio State university has offered 88 tuition scholarships—one to each county in the state—for students who desire to become teachers in the state's elementary schools.

President Howard L. Bevis announced the plan to cope partially with an anticipated elementary school teacher shortage which threatens the next five years.

The scholarships are worth some $8,000 each, as they cover the full four-year period. They begin with the next autumn quarter. In addition, Dr. Bevis stated, arrangements will be made to assist the holders to earn a portion of their other expenses by jobs at the university.

Westbrook Pegler

Writer Meets 'Fitness' Challenge With Review of His Own Experience

SUPERCILIOUSLY, I thought, the Cincinnati Enquirer dismissed my summary of my newspaper experience in Europe and Washington, which certainly is not sufficient for a claim of statesmanship, I do admit. But how many members of the U. S. Congress can match it? How many editors?

"It should be noted," the Enquirer says, "that Pegler is not a familiar figure in Washington, the fountainhead of our foreign diplomacy. Veteran capital correspondents cannot recall ever having seen him at a state department press conference. Several say they have never seen him at a presidential conference."

No, I am not a "familiar figure" in Washington. I have spent not less than two months a year, in season, in Washington in the last 15 years and my Washington experience dates from the first disarmament conference in Harding's time, but I am not a "familiar figure," just a freshman, to be sure. But I select my own courses.

I don't run to "press conferences" because mostly they are worse that futile. Roosevelt developed a school of sycophants who asked the question and closed the show when he wanted it stopped. The same sycophants had abused Mr. Hoover for selecting questions to his liking out of the hat, and accused him of loading the hat.

I went to three early Roosevelt conferences. They were all exhibitions, not contests. I had one "intimate" conference with Roosevelt and I never got over my disgust at the smirking wickedness of a man, the President, who sat there and told me that the great CIO riots in Michigan, the vandalism and criminal anarchy, were just multiple disorderly conduct, simple assault and malicious mischief. They were his riots because the CIO was his. His CIO deliberately caused and managed them and they were crimes. Charlie Michelson, who was then employed as a lobbyist by Crosley Radio, of Cincinnati, which was asking a priceless boon from the FCC, sat quietly by, paring his nails. Hundreds of lobbyists would have liked desk-room in the President's private office.

I attended a few other press conferences, but never one of Cordell Hull's. Still, I am not a stranger to the state department. On one of my visits, I interviewed Joseph Grew, our ambassador back from Japan, and, next, a major-general in mufti. I thus discovered that our own FBI had been called in to run down communist spies in our own department of state, planted there by a personage in our own White House.

You don't get that kind of news at press conferences.

Did the Enquirer ever pick up anything about Elliott Roosevelt's gyp loans and his father's swindles, or Henry Wallace's infatuation with an oriental godman, at a press conference? I am just defending my way of working. I will vindicate it on results against any press conference reporter that the Enquirer nominates.

'Adelman Car' Sold To Pay Notes

Earl Bates Buys Long-Sought Auto

A 1947 Buick convertible belonging to Robert K. Adelman, former Mansfielder, has been sold at a public sale in Cleveland for $2,500 to satisfy judgments held by Mansfielders, journal entries filed yesterday in common pleas court, show. Earl E. Bates, Mansfield, was the purchaser.

The car had been hunted over a wide area of northern Ohio for several months after Adelman disappeared from Mansfield. It was finally recovered in Cleveland.

The Mansfield Savings Trust National Bank received $1,816.50 to satisfy an unpaid cognovit note. Bates, himself, was rebated $568.42 as part satisfaction on a $2,015 cognovit note.

Bates had given Adelman that amount on promise of delivery of a new Buick and had received Adelman's cognovit note. The car originally ordered by Bates was never delivered.

Adelman has been under $500 bond in Cleveland as a material witness in the Jack Singleton case.

Singleton, former Mansfielder, is held in the Cuyahoga county jail on charges of larceny by trick in connection with his motor car sales business. Adelman was allegedly one of Singleton's bigger customers.

RESTAURANTS AID RED CROSS—Four Mansfield restaurants have agreed to use Red Cross menu folders during the annual campaign starting March 1. They include Mansfield-Leland hotel, the Southern, Parkway and Sky Club. Above, Mrs. Rachel Shreffler, hostess at the Sky Club, and Mrs. Lydia Thornberry of the Mansfield-Leland, examine the menu folders with Mrs. Bess Augsburger, Red Cross executive secretary.

Wells Says Aid Others Spiritually

Evangelistic Service Moves to Simpson

Approximately 900 persons who filled the Johnny Appleseed junior high school auditorium and overflowed into the balcony last night heard Dr. R. J. Wells advise them, "don't mind your own business when it comes to others' spiritual welfare." He spoke at the fourth community evangelistic meeting.

Tonight's meeting will be held at John Simpson auditorium because of a previous meeting scheduled for Johnny Appleseed.

"Every Christian is a watchman and you should be motivated by the desire to live up to your responsibility as watchman. In this respect we are to mind everybody's business as well as our own," Dr. Wells declared.

Basing his text on Ezekiel 3-19, "Yet if thou warn the wicked and he turn not from his wickedness nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul," Dr. Wells told his audience it had two responsibilities: (1) to hear the word of the Lord, and, (2) to take that word to others and warn them of their sins.

"It is God's will," he declared, "that men be warned of the terrible reality and results of their sins. If we do not warn people then we have their blood on our hands."

Dr. Wells said that too often ministers are inspired by the people in their pews rather than by the word of God.

Raleigh Harris, musician, who yesterday joined Dr. Wells and J. Stratton Shufelt in directing the meetings, last night played the virbraharp while Shufelt sang, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" as the choir of 75 voices and the two pianos joined in. He also played a piano solo, "When You Ring Them Golden Bells."

Rev. J. Frank Stewart, pastor of the Central Methodist church, presided.

Up and Down the Street . . .

NOT OUR MONUMENT—

A new booklet on the history of Ohio, issued by the Ohio Development and Publicity commission, is going to bring some protests from Mansfielders who know their Johnny Appleseed story. The book pictures an attractive monument of stone blocks and labels it the Johnny Appleseed monument in Middle park. Mansfielders who are familiar with the Appleseed monument will see immediately that it's not the one pictured in the historical booklet. The new publication, which may be obtained free by writing the Ohio Development and Publicity commission, Columbus, pictures and describes many of the historical spots in the state.

BLUEBIRDS, TOO—

Now that the first robins have been reported, Mansfielders may soon be seeing another harbinger of balmy skies and crocuses—namely, the bluebird. Mrs. Earl Dorsey, 1113 Woodville road, reported she heard the little fellow's song yesterday and is waiting for him to put in an official appearance. Mrs. Dorsey says she's made a study of bluebirds and their habits "for years."

★

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

Claude W. Zediker, Mansfield bricklayer and masonry contractor, who has a birthday today, didn't think when he built a new brick house for his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Boenau, Alpine drive, that he'd be celebrating his anniversary there. But that's what's going to happen tonight. The family is getting together for a proper observance, and among the group will be Zediker's three granddaughters, who have become his biggest "hobby." Today, Zediker is receiving congratulations from his friends and associates.

Firemen, Policemen Seek Jobs

Ask Promotion In Departments

Forty-nine persons took civil service examinations last night at John Simpson junior high school for nine different classifications of jobs, including eight for police lieutenant, seven for fire captain and three for plain clothes officer.

Two vacancies must be filled in the ranks of the police lieutenants, one caused by the promotion of Capt. Eugene E. Harnett and the other as the result of the demotion of Lt. Roeliff R. Hout to the rank of patrolman.

Two fire department captains will be needed as soon as the new No. 5 fire station on Marion avenue is completed. The foundation for the station now is being constructed.

Patrolmen who applied for the promotion of lieutenant are C. E. Beard, Charles J. Letizia, Gordon H. Drury, Albert E. Korn, William J. Taylor, Howard E. Dickson, William M. Colby, and Robert L. Garver.

Firemen who made application for captain include Frank Kollin, Louis Wiparina, Chester Ramsey, Daniel Snyder, Ray E. Underwood, Leo Jones and Ervin Remy.

Patrolmen Thomas C. Hempfield, William Colby and Robert L. Garver made application for plain clothes officer.

Eleven other persons took examinations for patrolmen, nine for firemen, four for assistant school janitors, two for Class "A" laborers and two for bookkeeper in the water and garbage department and three for street department truck drivers.

Friends Declare Reports Named Wrong Man as Margaret's Beau

WASHINGTON IS TALKING ABOUT—The difference in opinion among some of Margaret Truman's close friends. . . . A few believe that Frank Handy of Ypsilanti, Mich., would like to marry Margaret, which is why he is still carrying the betrothal ring in his pocket waiting for her yes . . . But some other friends do not rate Handy at all . . . "All of us who have known Margaret well," one of them said, "know that she is unofficially engaged. For about five years, Margaret has been going with a boy named Marvin Coles, a Yale graduate who is now general counsel to one of the Congressional Committees. At all the parties given by Margaret's friends, they are always steady dates. I think that if you asked the White House whether Margaret plans to marry Coles you might not get a denial."

The Democratic top politicos (and the FDR New Dealers), who are locked in a death struggle, which Roosevelt cheerfully predicted . . . Parran's last great public service (according to them) was to force the White House to appoint another good man to the post . . . The worst news for New Dealers is the death of an FDR agency—by Wall St. appointments. The Securities and Exchange Commission was invented to help wealthy as well as other investors . . . It took Harding, they groan, to kill Woodrow Wilson's reforms, but it took the Wall St. advisers of Truman to finish off FDR's . . . Challenges Court Order

Marquart Requests Injunction Dismissal

John P. O. Marquart, 608 Farmers Bank building, yesterday filed a motion in common pleas court, requesting dissolution of a temporary injunction, restraining him from selling hearing devices.

The injunction was granted the Sonotone corporation, which contended that Marquart, as its manager in the Richland, Ashland and Knox county area, had agreed in a contract not to sell hearing devices of other companies on leaving the Sonotone company.

Sonotone also has asked that the injunction be made permanent until June 26, 1948.

Marquart contends the injunction was improperly obtained and that the alleged contract was not in effect at the time Sonotone instituted action.

Marquart also asked the court to increase the plaintiff's injunction bond from $1,000 to not less than $2,500. Marquart contends a $1,000 bond is not sufficient security since he says he has been deprived of his income though he still pays rent for his office.

Marquart is represented by Attorney C. H. Henkel. Marshall C. Moore is attorney for Sonotone.

Uses Folded Aerial To Get Television

Television has come to Mansfield.

At least one television set is picking up regularly televised programs from Cleveland's station WEWS.

Harold Warner, manager of a radio shop and hobby store on East Fourth street, reports he has picked up boxing, wrestling, hockey, basketball and swimming action.

Although television seldom is satisfactory beyond 40 miles, Warner says his set has produced clear images, and is of the opinion that the high altitude here is at least partly responsible. Cities in level territory nearby have not had satisfactory reception, he said.

"But we had to do a lot of experimenting with an antenna," Warner explained, "and finally we got one at the store that works. It is a folding antenna, and each night we fold it up on special hinges and put it away. I don't think I ever heard of one just like it. But it works."

"We get fine reception out at our home on Sloan avenue, but here at the store the reception is handicapped by power lines," he says. "We even get sound channels from Detroit, but very poor images.

"We had a group of Boy Scouts from East Mansfield in to watch the Grotto circus in Cleveland, and all saw it plainly. We have some special equipment and have done a great deal of work perfecting it.

"Fires have been televised from Cleveland and we have seen them clearly."

He forecast improvements in television receiving and sending sets that would overcome the handicaps now apparent.

"RCA will not provide the new instruments here as yet because of the weak reception," he said. "But they are coming."

The Cleveland station operates every day except Sundays and Mondays.

Dimes March $2,000 Short

Although the annual March of Dimes campaign here has reached $6,003.01, a total of $8,500 will be needed if the campaign organization here is to break even, Atty. Marshall Moore, treasurer of the fund, said today.

"We've had $797.57 from the 600 boxes in the county outside Mansfield. The Shelby report is still to come in," Moore said, "but if we are to be adequately prepared for a possible polio epidemic next summer and properly care for those children who are now under treatment, we will need more money."

Although campaign time is over, Moore said, contributions will be received any time.

"I hope that those clubs and groups who failed to get their donations 'under the wire', will feel free to send them in to the March of Dimes office in the Richland Trust building at any time," Moore added.

Even First Graders Can Read These Two New Books

Along about this time of year first grade pupils know a lot of words and like to show how well they can read. Two new books in the Library this week are just made for that purpose. They are good stories, too, written with words that even first graders know. One is called PLAYMATES by Clara Baker. It has seven stories in it. One of them tells about a little boy who ran after a pig. He ran up the hill, in the corn, in the water and even in the mud. But he did not catch the pig. The other book is NIP AND TUCK by Guy Bond. Nip and Tuck are dogs. They play with Bob and Judy. They play ball. They have rides. They play with trains There is a funny little yellow duck in the book, too.

One of the nicest books we have about how people live is "Little Town." Many children have read it and liked the way it tells about stores, banks, schools and houses in a small town. Elmer and Berta Hader, who wrote that book, have written another one called BIG CITY. "Big City" is the story of New York, the biggest city in the country In the book you can read about how New York was once a small town, settled years ago by the Dutch people who came here and called the city New Amsterdam. The pictures in the book show you how the city grew and grew. More and more buildings went up, higher and higher, until now it is a city of skyscrapers New York has subways and elevated trains, big stations, parks, huge stores and busy streets It is the most exciting place I know to visit. If you can't go for real visit, read BIG CITY and you'll feel almost as if you'd been there.

From the city to the silent woods is quite a jump but you will do it if you turn to ANIMAL HOMES by George Mason He discusses many different animals and their homes in trees, under ground and even under water There are pictures of the different houses, too, drawn to make you feel that you are looking right into them. There is a lot of good material about the habits of animals and how they live, too.

It has been quite a while since we had a new mystery This week it is VIOLIN DETECTIVES by Myna Lockwood. It happens in New York City to four boys "Macaroni's" father was a violin mender He was called one morning to mend a very old, rare and valuable violin When he got home with the pieces one was missing! Macaroni, Fatty, Red and Skinny set out to solve the mystery of the missing piece They thought they knew where it was so they paid a dangerous visit to another violin maker's shop They tried to sit down and think it out At last they solved the mystery, but the answer surprised them even more than it will you

There are some countries in the world today where almost anything can happen, where people are upset and disturbed, fighting between themselves and where peace and security do not exist. One of those countries is Palestine. To Palestine went a young English boy, to visit his father Hal expected to be quite bored, but he met Judah Benarri, a Jewish boy of his own age, and Selime, an Arabian friend of Judah's. The three boys played and studied together found ADVENTURE IN PALESTINE It is an exciting story of a kidnapping of Judah's sister and the search the three boys make to find her Reading it will be fun, and will also help you to understand something of what is happening in that country. The book is by Judith Ish-Kishor.

When one end of the seesaw becomes noticeably heavier than the other, we have war."

Mrs. Milliken gave a comprehensive description of the economic, political and social aspects of each country in Europe.

"A balance of power," she stated, "can be achieved only when at least eight or nine centers of power in different parts of the world, all working together to promote world trade, co-operate with each other and become inter-dependent."

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, February 20.

An inexplicable situation seems to arise, according to the augury of menacing aspects of major planets, which may require most astute, deep-rooted as well as practical insight and analysis, if danger and disaster are to be sidestepped. Such behind-the-scenes maneuvers affect the personal and intimate life as well as business, and demand shrewd and sagacious work, alert and efficient tactics. Safeguard all avenues against duplicity, betrayal and sinister elements. There could be much criticism of conduct.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is, may be ready to give some clever, alert and efficient opposition toward rather sinister, subtle and crafty machinations, arising from hidden sources. Much perplexity and doubt come from inexplicable and bewildering sources, in which private as well as business interests are involved. In fact reputation and standing are likely to be criticised or undermined by malicious and irresponsible elements, difficult to "put the finger on." Guard up against treachery and betrayal in all its forms. Do not act under obscure or emotional urges as strange baits and lures call for unusual discrimination.

A child born on this day may have some underlying qualities in its nature inviting strange experiences or contacts. It should be trained in straight and unemotional behavorism.

Correspondents Invited to Bulgaria

Eastern Europe Makes Change In Policy

(Editor's Note Wes Gallagher, AP bureau chief in Germany, recently visited Bulgaria with other correspondents. Here is his report on what seems to be an abrupt and significant change in communist Europe's policy toward western newspapermen.)

* * *

By WES GALLAGHER

SOFIA, Bulgaria—(AP)—Soviet-dominated eastern Europe apparently has abruptly changed its policy toward western correspondents, particularly Americans.

After months of refusal to grant visas to American correspondents, the Bulgarian communist foreign minister, Vasil Kolarov, suddenly informed U. S. Minister Donald Heath he would be delighted to have some American reporters visit Bulgaria.

To get them here the Yugoslav government granted the first clearances for an American plane to fly over its territory since two American transports were shot down by the Yugoslavs almost two years ago.

About the same time, Communist Premier Groza of Romania gave a farewell dinner for New York Times Correspondent William Lawrence.

When a prime minister gives a correspondent a dinner, it's news. When the correspondent works for a western newspaper and the prime minister is a communist—it's not only news it's unique.

In a long speech to the American correspondents visiting Sofia, Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Topencharov took pains to point out that the so-called "iron curtain" was a myth, since American correspondents were free to come and go in Bulgaria.

After months of negative attitudes if not outright hostility, the sudden switch in press relations between eastern Europe and the western press could only be interpreted as a change in policy.

Restraining Order Granted By Court

A perpetual order, restraining Loren Snyder, Shiloh, R. D. 1, from interfering with removal by W. H. Paramore of his livestock from Snyder's farm, has been granted in common pleas court.

The court ordered that property owned jointly by Snyder and Paramore in a partnership for working the farm be sold at a public sale Feb. 28, and a distribution of the proceeds be made.

Panama Canal Is Best Site For New Waterway

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The largest battleship or ocean liner may sail some day through a tunnel under the continental divide across the Central American isthmus.

Or it may travel from the Atlantic to the Pacific in a vast open ditch without locks, riding at sea level on a man-made salt water river with banks rising as high as 600 feet.

Engineers with a mandate from Congress to study all possible routes for a new canal across the isthmus have even done some figuring on a ship railway which would lift a vessel out of one ocean, carry it overland by rail and set it down in the water of the other ocean. They discarded the project as harder to defend than a lock canal.

Congress received the report recently after two years of exhaustive preparation under the direction of the governor of the Panama Canal, J. C. Mehaffey. Almost $5,000,000 was spent on the work, and some of the best military and engineering brains in the nation took part. Here are some of its findings:

(1) The location of the present canal in Panama is the most economical and generally satisfactory place to build a new one.

(2) Only a sea-level canal could be made secure against sabotage or aerial attack, either with conventional or atomic weapons.

(3) Nicaragua would be the most desirable location except Panama for a new lock canal. But it would cost $3,566,000,000, compared to a $2,308,000,000 for a new lock canal in Panama.

(4) Colombia would offer the most feasible location outside of Panama for a sea-level canal.

Congress has long recognized the need for a new canal across the isthmus. Increased volumes of shipping, larger vessels and the coming of aerial and atomic warfare have outmoded the great Panama waterway.

Its locks are not large enough to hold our biggest carriers, or the Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth. After 1960, it is estimated, traffic will become heavier than the canal can accommodate.

In 1940 work was begun on new locks to parallel the present ones. Because of the war, work was abandoned in 1942, after $75,250,000 had been spent and most of the excavations completed. Governor Mehaffey notes that the excavations could be used for a sea-level canal, which would follow the general line of the present waterway.

The engineers suggested that a tunnel under the 1,600-foot-high Panamanian ridge might be cheaper than slicing out a vast open cut.

Since a large carrier measures 235 feet from hull to mast, the tunnel would have to be much larger than 235 feet in diameter to allow for tidal variations and for future larger ships.

The musk-ox, confined to the northern parts of North America, are suited for domestication, producing milk equal to the cow and valuable wool.

Nine Win Places On Honor Roll

Nine Mansfield area students at Ohio State university won places on the honor roll with averages of 3.25 or more in the college of arts and sciences during the autumn quarter, it was announced today.

Mansfielders on the roll were Lee R. Adams, Richard M. Christiansen, James P. Hodsen, Paul M. Jackson, Frederick J. Pfeifer, James W. Smith and George W. Stuhldreher.

Others were Betty J. Pollock of Lexington and Marva E. Hammon, Loudonville.

It has been estimated that 16 million housing units in the United States in 1940 were in such poor condition that they needed to be replaced or rebuilt.

Correspondents Invited to Bulgaria

Eastern Europe Makes Change In Policy

(Editor's Note: Wes Gallagher, AP bureau chief in Germany, recently visited Bulgaria with other correspondents. Here is his report on what seems to be an abrupt and significant change in communist Europe's policy toward western newspapermen.)

* * *

By WES GALLAGHER

SOFIA, Bulgaria—(AP)—Soviet-dominated eastern Europe apparently has abruptly changed its policy toward western correspondents, particularly Americans.

After months of refusal to grant visas to American correspondents, the Bulgarian communist foreign minister, Vasil Kolarov, suddenly informed U. S. Minister Donald Heath he would be delighted to have some American reporters visit Bulgaria.

To get them here the Yugoslav government granted the first clearances for an American plane to fly over its territory since two American transports were shot down by the Yugoslavs almost two years ago.

About the same time, Communist Premier Groza of Romania gave a farewell dinner for New York Times Correspondent William Lawrence.

When a prime minister gives a correspondent a dinner, it's news. When the correspondent works for a western newspaper and the prime minister is a communist—it's not only news it's unique.

In a long speech to the American correspondents visiting Sofia, Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Topencharov took pains to point out that the so-called "iron curtain" was a myth, since American correspondents were free to come and go in Bulgaria.

After months of negative attitudes if not outright hostility, the sudden switch in press relations between eastern Europe and the western press could only be interpreted as a change in policy.

Restraining Order Granted By Court

A perpetual order, restraining Loren Snyder, Shiloh, R. D. 1, from interfering with removal by W. H. Paramore of his livestock from Snyder's farm, has been granted in common pleas court.

The court ordered that property owned jointly by Snyder and Paramore in a partnership for working the farm be sold at a public sale Feb. 28, and a distribution of the proceeds be made.

U. S. Slips In Cattle Production

Beef Supplies Keep Shrinking

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The government reported today that we are eating up the "factories" that produce our beef and milk

The agriculture department said the number of cattle on farms declined 2,643,000 head, or 3 2 per cent, during the past year

Agriculture experts said that the decline in the cattle population is expected to continue for at least two more years and said this means beef supplies will keep shrinking for at least four years.

The number of milk cows Jan. 1, 1948, was down 933 000, or 3 2 per cent below the previous year.

The total number of livestock on farms and ranches declined to the lowest level since 1939

The total number of livestock —including cattle, sheep, horses, mules, chickens and turkeys—has declined for four straight years Cattle have declined for three years

Cattle on farms Jan 1 totaled 78,564,000 head. That is eight per cent below the record Jan. 1, 1945, figure of 85,573,000 head.

Enlistees Can Pick Their Outfits

The U S Army recruiting station in Mansfield announced today two enlistment possibilities in which the enlistee can select the outfit with which he will serve Veterans of any branch of the armed forces may enlist for assignment to the Seventh Regimental combat team stationed at Fort Benning, Ga. Men without prior service are eligible to enlist for service with the First Cavalry division, now on occupational duty in Japan.

Driver Fined $100, License Suspended

LeRoy Herring, 509 Glessner avenue, was fined $100 and costs and his license was suspended for six months, subject to the right to drive in connection with his work, municipal court records showed today.

He entered a plea of innocent in court Friday to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, but he was convicted by Judge H. H. Schettler. He offered no testimony in his own behalf.

The theremin, an electric instrument which produces music by electrical oscillations controlled by hand movements, was named after its inventor, M. Leo Theremin, a Russian.

How A&P Gives You Lower Food Prices

During the past week you have noticed lower prices on many important food items in your A&P Stores.

These prices are a direct reflection of the reductions in the market cost of the food to us.

Many of our customers are amazed to find price reductions going into effect so quickly at the retail level. They wonder how we do it.

There is no mystery about it. We are able to reflect these market reductions promptly because of three basic policies.

First—We endeavor to buy our food from primary sources of supply, such as farmers, meat packers and grocery manufacturers, and move it directly to our stores and warehouses. This keeps down the cost of distribution to us and the price to you at all times.*

Second—When the cost of food to us goes down, we do not wait until we have exhausted supplies on hand, but endeavor to reflect reductions in our retail prices promptly.*

Third—We are food merchants, not food speculators. We do not build up great reserves of food at any time. We are in the market day to day buying food to meet our customers' day to day needs.*

The lower prices you are finding in A&P Stores, coming as they do at a time when all of us are concerned with the high cost of living, have prompted many of our customers to ask us what the food price outlook is. Are there going to be further price reductions in these and other foods?

Frankly, it is impossible for anyone to predict future retail food prices without knowing whether the current break in the commodity market is temporary or the beginning of a general trend.

Grocers do not control the price they must pay for food. They can lower retail prices only to the extent to which they buy wisely, keep their own costs and profits down, and pass along savings resulting from lower wholesale prices to their customers.

We base our retail price on the cost to us plus our low cost of doing business including our small profit of about 1½ cents on each dollar of sales.

Therefore, we can say A&P prices will follow the market trend, and that any further reduction in the cost of food to us, or in our costs of doing business, will promptly result in lower prices in our stores.

You can count on A&P to give you lower prices whenever and wherever it is possible. You can trust A&P to give you the most quality food for your money.

Fined $10 and costs for speeding were Joseph J. Harfman, Mansfield, R. D. 4; Sidney D. Marshall, Ashland; Ruth E. Baker, Galion, and Robert J. Hill, Mt. Gilead.

Fire-arms in mediaeval days were named after birds and beasts. The word "musket," for instance, is derived from the Italian word for a sparrowhawk.

BAKING HINTS
by Martha Logan

Before you bake a cake, take eggs out of refrigerator and let stand. They will beat more readily at room temperature. And here's another important tip! Always use Swift'ning*. It contains a special quick-mix ingredient for marvelous cakes. Too, it makes extra flaky pies, gives you digestible fried foods!

Out-performs all other shortenings!

*Swift'ning is the trade-mark for Swift & Company's Bland Lard.

Rev. Auer Named to Head Board For Galion Center

GALION—The choice of Rev. Philip E. Auer to act as chairman of a temporary board to promote plans for a YMCA or Community Center affiliated with a "Y," was made at a luncheon meeting of the board Wednesday noon.

W. S. Chambers, Columbus executive of the Ohio-West Virginia area, national council, YMCA, was a special guest. Many matters were cleared concerning the functioning of the YMCA during the luncheon-conference with Chambers at Hotel Talbott.

The temporary board, named last Friday night at a meeting sponsored by the Galion Business and Professional Women's club, is comprised of nine members.

Four chosen by nomination last Friday were Rev. Auer, Mrs. C. F. Boyd, Walter S. Goshorn and Robert Corry. Members of the public affairs committee of the BPW are Miss Edna Smith, Miss Margaret Loris, Miss Dorothy Plack, Mrs. Loren E. Beck and Miss Ruth Ross.

With the naming of Rev. Auer as temporary chairman, and a meeting set for Friday night, March 5, at the American Legion home, when representatives of civic and religious organizations of the city will be called to hear a talk by Chambers, the program for a YMCA has been launched. Out of the March 5 meeting, it is planned to select a board of trustees to promote the project.

Rev. Auer, who is pastor of Peace Lutheran church of Galion, is a past international vice president of Kiwanis and also a former governor of the Ohio district of Kiwanis. He is a well known speaker.

In his conference with the temporary board, Chambers said the YMCA is non-church, non-sectarian, but it is religious. Catholic, Protestant and Jew are welcome and all of these groups can have representatives on the board of trustees.

Organizations who sent representatives to last Friday night's meeting at the American Legion home at the call of the BPW, were Galion Youth Center, Galion Elks, Masonic orders, Eagles, Galion public schools, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, American Legion, American Legion auxiliary, Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs, K. of C., Galion Ministerial association, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and the International Association of Machinists (AFL).

These groups and several others will be expected to attend the March 5 meeting to hear Chambers, and to further plans for the project.

Bellville Knocks Lexington Out of Tourney, 40-36

Ontario Rolls Over Shiloh; Two Games Listed Tonight

By FRED THARP, News-Journal Sports Editor

Lexington's hopes for a second straight Richland county tournament championship were rudely dashed by a hard fighting gang of Bellville Blue Jays in the tourney opener last night on the Senior high school floor, 40 to 36.

Ontario advanced to the semi-finals by drubbing a bewildered crew of Shiloh Drummer Boys, 50 to 16.

Remaining first round games will be played tonight beginning at 7:30 p. m. Butler, county league second placers, meets Lucas in the first encounter while Plymouth goes against Union in the second tilt.

Eradication of Lexington leaves Plymouth and Butler as the favored teams. During the regular season Plymouth defeated Union twice, 56 to 36 and 45 to 28, while Butler pounded over Lucas, 49 to 28 and 52 to 34.

RALLY DOES IT

Coach Harry Regula's Blue Jays put on a mighty rally to wipe out a big Lexington lead before 1,400 screaming fans. Jim Fry shackled Rollicking Rollie Ford of Lexington with only four field goals. Ford, the county scoring leader with a 19.8 average, had to settle for 11 points.

In a cautious opening quarter Lexington rolled up nine straight points, the first seven on free throws. Duane Wirick hit the first basket with a one-hander after five minutes of play. The Minutemen led at the quarter, 11 to 4, but found their lead cut to 18-15 at the half.

Lexington increased its advantage to 27-23 in the third quarter, but Bill Smith, the little Bellville sparkplug, hit a one-hander and Bill Lyon connected on a pivot shot to knot the score. Lexington again pulled ahead at the quarter, 30 to 27.

AHEAD FIRST TIME

Paul Collins put Bellville ahead for the first time with a solo jaunt and bunny shot after 2:15 of the fourth heat. Dick Dill tied it with a foul but Paul hit again. Dill made another foul and Smith dropped in a free throw for the Jays.

Ford tied the count with a rebound connection but Paul Collins made two quick baskets as the game headed into the final minute. Ford stole the ball and came through with another fielder but Fred Collins clinched the result from under the basket with 30 seconds to go.

Smith was the leading scorer with 16 markers. Bellville's defense allowed only 11 field goals, but the Minutemen made 14 of 21 free throws to stay very much in the game. Wilbur Walker, Bellville, and Dill fouled out in the final quarter.

ONTARIO CAN'T MISS

Shiloh kept in the game in the early stages but could not withstand the "dead-eye" shooting of the Ontario team. The Warriors' over-all shooting was some of the best ever shown in a county game. The Drummer Boys had been showing improvement in recent games but couldn't hit "the broad side of a barn" or the basket for that matter last night.

Ontario led by quarters, 7 to 3, 27 to 7 and 36 to 12.

Paul Heichelbeck, Ontario sub, led the scorers with 12 points while Shiloh's one-man team, Bob Heifner, had 11.

Detroit Lions Poised to Sign Bo McMillin

DETROIT —(AP)— The Detroit Lions of the National Football league were poised today to sign Alvin N. (Bo) McMillin, popular Indiana university grid boss, to a seven-year coaching contract at a salary of $30,000 a year.

McMillin, gray-haired strategist of Hoosier football teams for 13 years, flew into Detroit last night, presumably to accept the long-term contract offered him by the new owners of the Lions.

To accept the contract, he would have to be released from the remaining eight years of an agreement with Indiana, which pays him at least $12,500 annually as its head coach and athletic director.

It was McMillin's second visit here within 10 days. While he would not say he was accepting the job, the Lions arranged a meeting of the board of directors for this afternoon, at which time President D. Lyle Fife was expected to announce formally that Bo is joining the pros.

McMillin's post with the Lions would be a double-barreled one as head coach and general manager. As coach he would succeed Charles E. (Gus) Dorals, who went out just prior to sale of the club last month by Fred L. Mandel, jr., to an eight-man syndicate headed by Fife.

Shelby Quint Ends Loop Sked Friday

SHELBY — The Shelby Whippets will wind up the Northern Ohio league and home season when they entertain Crestline here tomorrow night.

Coach Charles Williams' quintet, who are all juniors or sophomores with the exception of Captain Jake Gates, a senior, will be seeking their fourth loop win in seven starts. Crestline has won two out of six league tilts.

The Whippets defeated Upper Sandusky, 39 to 38; Norwalk, 38 to 37; and Galion, 46 to 40, while losing to Willard, 42-50; Bellevue, 45-65; and Bucyrus, 39-44.

Against the same opponents, Crestline defeated Willard, 42 to 36, and Galion, 43 to 34, while losing to Norwalk, 36-53; Upper Sandusky, 30-34; Bucyrus, 39-59; and Bellevue, 35-42.

Two other league games tomorrow take Bucyrus to Upper Sandusky and Galion to Willard. In a non-league tilt, Bellevue, league champion, plays at Norwalk.

Lehigh Honors J. C. Gorman

BETHLEHEM, Pa. —(AP)— The man respnsible fr wrestling at Lehigh university will be honored Saturday.

Back in 1906 James C. Gorman of Mansfield, O., got a few students interested in the sport while he was a freshman. Gorman collected $5 each from a dozen candidates and then appealed to then President Henry S. Drinker for recognition of the sport.

Dr. Drinker secured $100 from alumni for wrestling mat and another $100 to pay a coach.

Gorman will be honored at a testimonial dinner before the Lehigh-Syracuse wrestling meet. Guests will include members of Lehigh's first mat team.

Browns' Film Returns Here

Bill Edwards, coach of the Cleveland Brown tackles, will speak and show the movie, "Meet the Browns" at an open house at the Moose lodge tonight at 8 p. m. Last week the movie was shown at a stag affair.

Edwards played three years of high school football at Massillon as a teammate of Paul Brown and later the two were roommates at Ohio State. But they left Columbus and Brown went to Miami and Edwards to Wittenberg, where Edwards developed into an All-Ohio star three straight years.

Edwards has coached at Western Reserve, the Detroit Lions, and St. Mary's Pre-Flight and Pensacola Naval Air Station, the latter two while in the Navy.

Tonight's affair will be open to families and friends of the Moose.

Phil Warga's 627 Series Tops City A Loop Bowlers

By GAYLE HAYES

Phil Warga, getting better as he went along, led the Bissman's Birdie Brands to a pair of victories in the City 'A' league last night, dropping 627 pins on games of 182, 200, and a flashy 245 as a finisher. While Warga's total was the high mark of the night, the Ideal Billiard and '36' Bar teams put on the feature of the league.

The '36' Bar team collected 2,896 pins in winning the odd game, as Brig Young hammered 243 his first try and tapered off for 617 on 193 and 181. The team hit 1,004 to start but dropped the third game when Joe Harrod hammered 222 and wound up with 608 for the night. Ideal Billiards had a 2,816 series.

★

Most of the city's bowlers had an 'off' night, with Ray Foss leading the Victory league with a 537 series on counts of 189, 191, and 157, and Florence Scott high in the Richland Ladies on 171, 198, and 130 for 499.

★

Dana Muxley was high scorer in the Westinghouse leagues as he came through with a 220 finish after skidding to 157 the second game. He had opened with 185. Floyd Weyhmiller had a 234 middle score and 560 as total, with Jim Shannon scoring 185, 166, and 208 for 559.

★

There were plenty on the verge of big series in the 'A' league, but failed to get over the hill. Among them were Abie Keefer with 587, Buck Forman with 584, Pick Hipp with 580, Lloyd Pugh 579, Carl Heilman 588, and Fritz Vogel with 597 on his games of 184, 190 and 223.

Cleveland Barons Nose Into Second

(By International News Service)

Cleveland's Barons' long-nurtured dreams of occupying the second-place berth in the western division of the American Hockey league have finally become a reality.

While the Cleveland pucksters were downing the Philadelphia Rockets by a 5-2 count last night, the Buffalo Bisons, who had been in the second-place spot, were taking the blunt end of a 6-5 score in their tilt with the Indianapolis Capitals.

Joe Louis Tells Walcott To Sign Or Forget Bout

NEW YORK —(AP)— Joe Louis, his patience wearing thin, says he'll give Jersey Joe Walcott just two weeks to sign for a return shot at the heavyweight boxing crown.

If the Camden, N. J., veteran doesn't come to terms by then, the champion adds, then he'll make his last fight against someoony else—"probably Gus Lesnevich."

"You'd think Walcott was the champion the way he wants to call the shots," the Brown Bomber declared last night on the eve of his departure for a series of exhibitions in England.

Louis said he thought Lesnevich, the lightheavyweight champion, would prove a better drawing card than Walcott, anyhow.

"I think we'd draw a million dollar gate if Gus can knock out Billy Fox again," he added. "I also think he'd put up a better fight. He's a hard puncher." Lesnevich meets Fox March 5.

Senior High Meets Canton McKinley 5

Senior high, notoriously a poor road club, may get its collective ears pinned back tomorrow at Canton McKinley.

The Tygers have won only one of the last five games away from the friendly confines of the Mansfield gym and the appearance on the long and narrow Canton floor does not figure to help things much.

Canton has won 13 and lost two while the Senior high record now stands at 14 and 4. McKinley's two defeats were suffered at the hands of Massillon, 42 to 38, in overtime and Youngstown Rayen, 40 to 39.

The McKinley team has beaten: Cleveland Lincoln, 45 to 36; Cleveland Heights, 60 to 56; Columbus Grandview, 46 to 37; Dayton Stivers, 32 to 31; Akron St. Vincent, 56 to 45; Warren Harding, 50 to 30; Canton Lincoln, 65 to 37; Alliance, 56 to 41; Massillon, 65 to 45; Canton Timken, 45 to 43; Akron Central, 72 to 52; Alliance, 35 to 30 and East Liverpool, 48 to 46.

WIN SIX STRAIGHT

The Bulldogs have won six straight games and are unbeaten on their home floor. Last season, Canton won as it pleased over Senior high, 58 to 41.

Tomorrow's game will be the final out-of-town appearance for Mansfield before the district tournament in Sandusky. The Tygers entertain Norwalk Feb. 27.

Senior high yesterday started taking telephone orders for the Mansfield-Port Clinton tournament game March 5. Tickets will go on sale at Senior high Monday. Madison high will begin selling tickets to its March 4 game with Sandusky next Monday at 9 a. m.

Each school has 475 tickets to its opening game.

Sports Center 36-29 Winner Over OPS 5

Ohio Sports Center and Westinghouse both took victories in the Commercial 'B' league on the YMCA floor last night to remain deadlocked for first place, but the Sports Center team had to work for the decision. Westinghouse won by forfeit over Mansfield Tire 'B' team.

Ohio Public Service pressed the Center team the first half, but a scoring spree in the third period gave Sports Center a big edge and the victory, 36-29. Ohio Public Service rallied in the final period to cut four points off the margin.

Dominion Electric tallied 13 points the final period to come from behind and defeat Salesman, 35-29. The Salesmen led at the end of three quarters, 25-22.

Paul Carbetta Loses Verdict

Paul Carbetta, Mansfield 122 pounder, lost a split decision to Tony LaRocca of Cleveland last night at Akron, in a verdict which met with the disapproval of the crowd of 1,500. It was a five-rounder.

Carbetta spotted his opponent 12 pounds, but traded wallops with his heavier foe and made such a hit he has been asked to appear in Akron March 12 in the eight-round semiwindup.

Two Mansfield Fighters Win

Only two of seven Friendly House amateur boxers won victories in last night's fisticuff show in Marion

Bill Eccles won a technical knockout over John Benedict, Marion heavy, while Gene Ayers, F-H feather, won a decision over Harold Crabtree, Marion

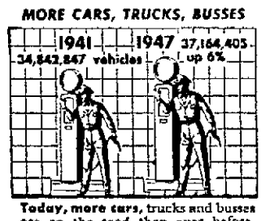
Oil production at record heights but your help still essential

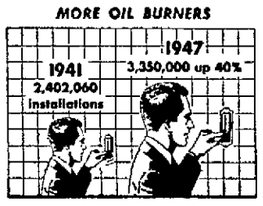
7 REASONS WHY OIL CONSUMPTION IS NOW AT AN ALL-TIME HIGH!

MORE CARS, TRUCKS, BUSSES



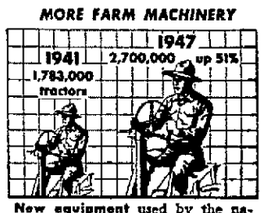
Today, more cars, trucks and busses are on the road than ever before. Huge quantities of fuel and lubricants are consumed daily.

MORE OIL BURNERS



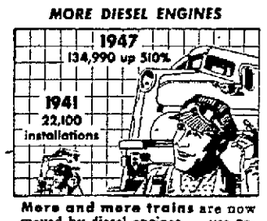
Oil is clean and efficient heating. That's why more homes schools and hospitals have installed oil burners. The average American oil heated home consumes approximately 1750 gallons per year

MORE FARM MACHINERY



New equipment used by the nation's farmers demands large quantities of petroleum. In the mid-west alone, farm use of oil products has nearly doubled since 1941.

MORE DIESEL ENGINES

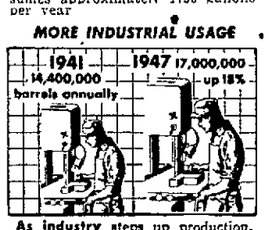


Mere and more trains are now moved by diesel engines . . . use petroleum products to provide power for the roads of steel.

MORE COMMERCIAL PLANES

Giant airliners consume vast amounts of petroleum. Special fuels and lubricants are required. A four-engine plane uses from 200 to 350 gallons every hour it's in the air.

MORE INDUSTRIAL USAGE



As industry steps up production, demand for heavy fuel oil, industrial lubricants and dozens of other petroleum products grows bigger and bigger.

MORE MILITARY NEEDS

Tremendous quantities of petroleum are required by our Army and Navy. For without petroleum, planes cannot fly . . . jeeps cannot move . . . ships cannot sail.

HERE'S WHY

You Must Save Fuel Oil Now

Unless we all save as much fuel oil as possible, there may not be enough to keep our homes, schools and public buildings warm through the winter.

This is true even though more oil products are being produced and delivered today than ever before! Faced with the greatest demand in history, production is up to new record heights, and crude oil is being rushed to refineries and then to you. But there may not be enough to go around, unless every user saves as much as he can now.

The oil industry is spending over 4 billion dollars to meet your needs. New sources of supply are being uncovered . . . right now we are importing more oil than we are exporting . . . refinery and distribution facilities are being expanded . . . newer, faster methods of transportation are being provided.

But this expansion takes time. The oil industry, like so many others, faces difficulties in obtaining the necessary materials.

Save as much fuel oil, kerosene and gasoline as you can. If everyone cooperates there will be enough for all.

HERE'S HOW

To Save Money . . . Save Fuel Oil . . . Help Stretch the Supply

1. Keep temperature at moderate level—not more than 68 degrees. Turn thermostat to 60 or below at night.

2. Keep doors, windows closed, shades drawn. Close off unused rooms.

3. Install storm windows and insulation to keep heat in . . . cold out.

4. Be sure to have your heating system checked to be sure you're getting the most efficient use of your fuel oil.

If everyone cooperates, the current "pinch" need not last too long. As soon as it is humanly possible, there'll be enough oil for all your needs. And the greater your cooperation the sooner that day will be.

If everyone saves . . . there will be enough for all.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

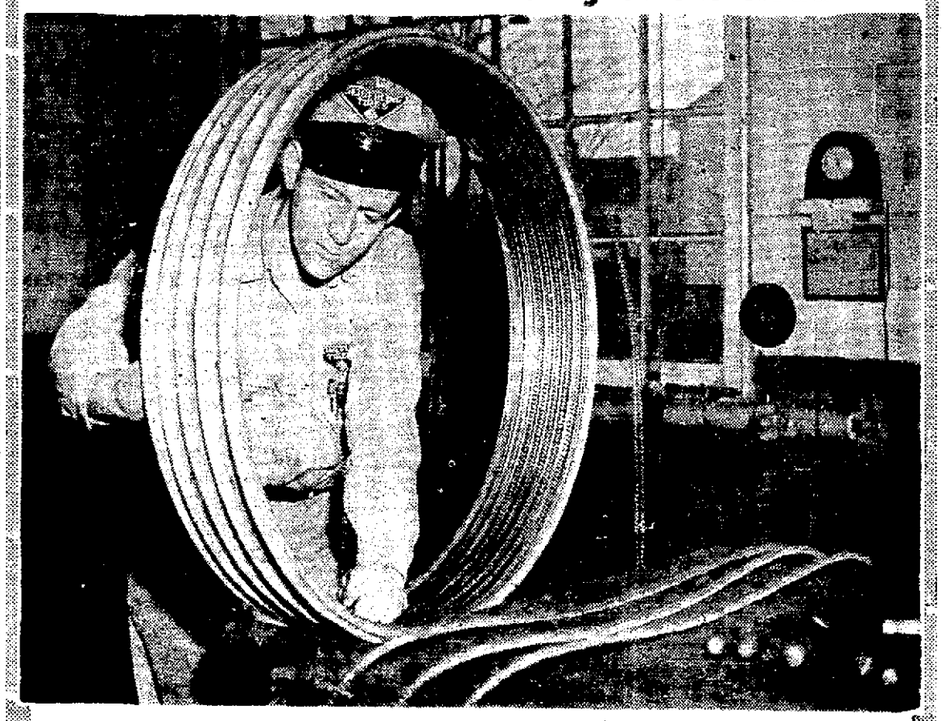
Skid No More Is New Song of the Road



Tire engineers here are doing something about the skidding that causes automobile accidents in winter. They are fighting on the tire front the toll of death and injury that follows close on the heels of a snow or ice storm, trying to pare down the estimated 70 per cent of winter accidents attributed to skids.

With new abrasive rubber and with wire springs in treads, companies here declared they have come close to eliminating that sickening feeling that comes over a driver as his vehicle skids out of control.

Menace Not Finished

It was not maintained that the new development finished the skid as a menace to motoring, but company spokesmen did say the new treads gripped the ice "with amazing effectiveness."

A leading treader of used tires, the Martin and Petersen Tire Co., Mansfield, Ohio, can equip tires with what appears to be a steel coil spring buried in the rubber of each rib.

It was explained that the coil spring, applied in the Hawkinson method of treading, grips into the ice, giving traction and control where an ordinary tread, especially if made of synthetic, would slip.

Springs Grip the Ice

"After about 2,000 miles the crown wears off each coil in the spring making several hundred sharp points which do a better job of gripping the ice than does the tread when it first comes from the mold," a Martin and Petersen spokesman said.

He said the springs even improved skid control on a wet summer pavement, making the device a year-around aid to driving. There is no appreciable difference in the wearing quality of the spring tread tire.

The spring tread also is used by other companies here in airplain tires for use on ice-covered landing fields. It was described as a wartime invention necessary for flight operations in the far north to keep planes from sliding off the field when landing.

Demonstrations are being made in many cities in the snow and ice belt, and it was that emergency vehicles, such as police cruisers, are being equipped with the new development.

No chains are required, and no cinders or sand need be carried by the motorist who has the new treads.

Developments in the new type tread went on many years, it was said, beginning before the war, but immense demands for ordinary tread rubber prevented completion of experiments until this winter.

Orders Jury To View Site

A jury of six men and six women, impaneled to set the amount to be paid by the city of Mansfield for 14 acres needed for the Clear Fork Water project today was ordered to view the premises.

Common Pleas Judge Clarence U. Ahl of Crawford county, presiding in the absence of Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, ordered the viewing of the premises on a motion by C. J. Kalbfleisch, city solicitor.

The city seeks the land as a site for the principal pumping station for the dam. Owner of the land is Mrs. Donna Shaffer. The property is part of her 52.8 acre farm located in Perry township.

Following impaneling of the jury, attorneys for both sides presented their opening arguments to the jury. The jury then left to view the property. Mrs. Shaffer is represented by Anderson, Will and O'Donnell.
